You have no idea how excited I was when your letter arrived yesterday, saying you & Ross will be coming to see us. It will be just lovely and will we do some talking after all these years? The only part I do not like about it, is the motel part, we would both like you to stay here, and I will tell you our position here. We have two spare rooms, one double & one single, an inside toilet just across the little hall that separates all bedrooms. We only have a small shower bath tub, with sides as high as an ordinary bath tub, which may worry Ross a little, but if he feels he can manage it, why worry about the motel. In any case you must have your meals here with us, it would be too much waste of talking time, and we will be so pleased to have you both, yes we will certainly take you around to see the places you mention. I asked Dorrie Goodacre about the cherry trees and she said she didn't think there are many left, but we can certainly see what is there. Of course they must be every bit of a hundred years old, so they haven't done too badly. Fancy me 74 in two days time & George 74, nine days later, I am the eldest of the two of us by nine days. Well all news when we see you so bye for now. Love Eva
